THE KINSHIP OF SOULS. A Narrative.

By REUVEN THOMAS. 12mo, $1.50.

The volume gives an account of a trip made by a philosophical professor, his intellectual daughter, and a young theological student, including descriptions of various portions of England and Germany visited by them. The undogmatic way in which the author discusses theology and philosophy will interest the serious-minded.

PASTOR NAUDIÉ'S YOUNG WIFE. By ÉDOUARD ROD. Translated from the French by Bradley Gilman. 12mo, $1.25.

"Is, perhaps, the author's masterpiece. He seems to us destined to obtain as much success in Protestant countries, when he paints the customs and characters found in cities that have remained partly Huguenot, like Montauban and La Rochelle, as has been granted to Mrs. Humphry Ward for her best novels."—TH. BENTZON in the Critic.

THE MIRACLES OF ANTICHRIST.

A Novel. By SELMA LAGERLÖF, author of "The Story of Gösta Berling." Translated from the Swedish by Pauline Bancroft Flach. 12mo, $1.50.

"Not only a remarkably strong story, but an evidence of exceptional versatility."—Commercial Advertiser, New York.

"One feels that it is, indeed, 'an astonishing book,' and of a type almost unique."—Times-Star, Cincinnati.

"A masterpiece of the highest order."—Cosmopolis.

BY THE SAME AUTHOR.

THE STORY OF GÖSTA BERLING.

Translated from the Swedish of SELMA LAGERLÖF by PAULINE BANCROFT FLACH. 12mo, $1.75.

"Of such marked power that unless Miss Lagerlöf is unable to sustain the force indicated by this example of her work, she will become one of the great novelists of the continent."—Public Opinion.

FROM DREAMLAND SENT. Verses of the Life to Come. By LILIAN WHITING, author of "The World Beautiful." New edition, with additional Verses. 16mo, $1.00; full gilt, $1.25.

A BOY IN THE PENINSULAR WAR. The Services, Adventures, and Experiences of Robert Blakeney, a Subaltern in the 28th Regiment. An Autobiography. Edited by JULIAN STURGIS. With a map. 8vo, $4.00.

"A wonderfully vivid picturing of soldier life in the field."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"Writers of fiction have scarcely conceived a more entertaining and thrilling account of war."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SOULE'S SYNONYMES. Crown 8vo, half leather, $2.50.

BARTLETT'S FAMILIAR QUOTATIONS.

Crown 8vo, half leather, $3.50.

NOTES IN SEASON.

GEORGE ROUTLEDGE & SONS, Limited, have just ready "Dewey and Other Great Commanders," containing biographies of fifteen celebrated naval commanders, with portraits.

D. APPLETON & Co. publish this week "The Mormon Prophet," by Lily Dougall, a remarkable historical novel which depicts the actual beginnings of Mormonism, the character of the first revelations and of those who accepted them, and the extraordinary experiences and persecutions of the early members of the sect; "Pharos the Egyptian," a romance, by Guy Boothby, a new volume in the Town and Country Library; and in the History for Young Readers series a history of Spain, by Frederick A. Ober.

THE CENTURY COMPANY have just ready an American edition of "No. 5 John Street," by Richard Whiteing, a romance of the "other half" in London, with side-lights on the life of the "Upper Ten." The book has met with great success in England, the first large edition having been exhausted immediately upon publication. They call attention to the fact that 106,000 copies have already been published of Kipling's "Jungle Books," and that the demand for his "Captains Courageous" is unabated.

THE DOUBLEDAY & MCCLURE CO. will publish immediately, under the title of "From Sea to Sea," an authorized edition of the collected letters of travel which Rudyard Kipling has written at different times between 1889 and 1898. The book will include hitherto unpublished matter as well as an accurate text of the "American Notes" with "Letters of Marque," "City of Dreadful Night," etc. They have been obliged to postpone the publication of Miss Wilkins's new book, "The Jamesons," in order to insert some fine pictures in colors. The book is now scheduled to appear either April 29 or in the first week in May.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish to-day "The Stolen Story, and other newspaper stories," by Jesse Lynch Williams, author of the very successful "Princeton Stories," which give true pictures of human nature under unusual conditions; "In the Klondyke," by Frederick Palmer, with illustrations from photographs; and "A Literary History of Ireland," by Dr. Douglas Hyde, forming the second volume in the Library of Literary History, inaugurated with Frazer's "Literary History of India." New and cheaper editions are also ready of Dr. William Reed Huntington's (Rector of Grace Church, New York City) "The Church Idea," "The National Church," and "The Peace of the Church."

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready "Fragments of an Autobiography," by Felix Stone Moscheles, a handsome volume, as it is also a most interesting one, full of intimate personal recollections of such men as the author's famous father, Ignaz Moscheles, the teacher of Mendelssohn, and of Joachim Mazzini, Dupont, Rossini, Rossetti, and many others who have made their mark in art and literature. All through these stories of life-long friends are woven pictures of human life as the artist-author saw it in England, on the Continent, especially in Paris, in New York, and in Chicago. They have also just ready "The Span o' Life, a tale of Louisbourg and Quebec," by William McLennan and J. N. McIlwraith, with illustrations by F. de Myrbach.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just ready "Pastor Naudié's Young Wife," by Edouard Rod, a study of French Protestantism of the present day, of which the scenes are laid in Montauban and La Rochelle, the two great Huguenot strongholds in the past. The book is full of tolerance, and it is said to puzzle both Catholics and Protestants by its arguments and explanations, which would seem of equal force in protecting or disparaging the methods of both religions. The translation is well done by Bradley Gilman, who also furnishes a biographical sketch of the author. "Each Life Unfulfilled," by Anna Chapin Ray, the author of "Teddy, Her Book," is an American novel of which the chief characters are a young author and a girl studying for a musical career.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

The death of Kissie Gordon's father, who was a clergyman, deprives Kissie and her mother of almost their only means of support, and forces them to accept the hospitality of Mrs. Gordon's sister, Mrs. Merchant. Mrs. Merchant is a worldly woman, enjoying life in the conventional way, and encouraging her children to do likewise. Kissie for a time is drawn into the whirl, but the strong views of her father and mother against dancing, cards, extravagance in dress, etc., that had been early instilled into her, come again to the front and a conflict ensues. This is the motive of the story and the reason of Kissie's sacrifice.

Author is assistant constructor, English Royal Navy. This book was prepared by him in order to provide students and draughtsmen engaged in shipbuilders' and naval architects' drawing offices, with a text-book which should explain the calculations which continually have to be performed. It is intended, also, that the work, and more especially its later portions, shall serve as a text-book for the theoretical portion to the examinations of the science and art department in naval architecture. This refers to English offices and schools.

With the assistance of Mr. Hichens Mr. Barrett has put into novel form the drama in which, in England, he played the leading part. It has its scene chiefly in Babylon, during the time of the Jewish captivity—Israel's attempts to break her bonds being a strong element of the story. At the end the scene changes to the tents of Zoar, an illustration being given of Israel's cruel adherence to the letter of the law. Love, hate, and revenge are the motives of this dramatic story. There are graphic character sketches and fine descriptions of Babylonian life and gorgeousness.

The incidents are the outcome of forcing two boys—one a German, the other having an English father, but a German aunt, in whose house he has been educated—to serve in the French army in Napoleon's time. They desert, and are aided in their escape by a girl cousin and their aunt. In making their way to the Prussian army they have many adventures, being finally with Blücher at Waterloo. The historical portions of the story are in accordance with facts.

The book claims to give a clear scriptural and common-sense explanation of the origin of sin. As a sequence to this it aims to show that the theory of evolution, in its attempt to account for the sinfulness of mankind and the commonly accepted doctrine of hereditary depravity, both fail to give a satisfactory explanation of the problem considered. He believes man a free moral agent, and the doctrine of endless punishment a necessity. The book is aimed mainly at the doctrine of universalism.

Dougall, Lily. The Mormon prophet. N. Y., Appleton, 1899. 8+427 p. D. cl., $1.50. [1056]

A historical novel devoted to the beginnings of Mormonism and to a description of the peculiar temperament of Joseph Smith, the "prophet" and founder of the sect. The author has studied his character in the light given by modern psychological research, and the results will probably be accepted as a true interpretation of an extraordinary character. The story shows what Mormonism was at the outset, and traces the changes which showed themselves clearly at Nauvoo City, where polygamy, which was nowhere present in the original creed of the sect, is said to have had its origin.

Doumic, René. Contemporary French novelists; authorized tr. by Mary D. Frost. N. Y., T. Y. Crowell & Co., [1899.] c. 3+402 p. por. O. cl., $2. [1057]

The authors whom M. Doumic selected as representative not only of modern French fiction, but also of his own best work in criticism, are: Octave Feuillet; the Goncourt Brothers; Emile Zola; Alphonse Daudet; Paul Bourget; Guy de Maupassant; Pierre Loti; Edouard Rod; J. H. Rosny; Paul Hervieu; J. K. Huysmans; René Bazin.

Doyle, Arthur Conan. A duet, with an occasional chorus. N. Y., Appleton, 1899. c. 4+336 p. il. D. buckram, $1.50. [1058]

The story of one year in the married life of a middle class young Englishman and a middle-class English girl. These two people, with their little every-day affairs, afford material for a very amusing narrative. The book begins with their wedding, and ends with the birth of a son. Their evenings are often spent in reading and their days in sight-seeing. Pleasant talks and descriptions are thus introduced of Westminster Abbey, Mr. Samuel Pepys, Carlyle's London home at No. 5 Cheyne Row, etc. There is an amusing chapter on the establishment of a Browning Society.

Doyle, C. W., M.D. The taming of the jungle. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1899. c. 200 p. nar. S. cl., $1. [1059]

A strong story of India, of the simple, primitive folk of the Terai—the great tract of jungle that skirts the foot-hills of the Himalayas, in the Province of Kumaon. The author, Dr. Doyle, was born in 1852, at Landour, a little hill station in the Himalayas. His father was killed in action in the Sepoy war of 1857-58, while leading a regiment of native cavalry which he had been commissioned to raise by the government of India. Dr. Doyle lived in India for a number of years; proceeding later to England, he studied medicine and graduated with honors. For several years he has practiced in America.

Gifford, Mrs. Augusta Hale. Germany, her people and their story: a popular history of the beginnings, rise, development, and progress of the German empire from Arminius to William II.; told for Americans. Bost., Lothrop Pub. Co., [1899.] c. 3+604 p. il. D. cl., $1.75. [1064]

Mrs. Gifford has prepared herself for this book by the experiences of a long residence abroad and by a faithful study of all phases of German life and history from the earliest times to the present day. It is the first popular story of Germany especially prepared for American readers and studied from an American standpoint. While the narrative is generally condensed, such eras as that of the Reformation, the Thirty Years' War, Frederick the Great's martial career, the time of Prussia's oppression ending in the war of liberation, and the Franco-Prussian War with its galaxy of illustrious characters, have been treated with satisfactory fulness.

Grandin, Egbert H., M.D., and Jarman, G: W., M.D. A text-book on practical obstetrics. 2d ed. rev. and enl. Phil., The F: A. Davis Co., 1898. c. 14+461 p. il. O. cl., net, $4; shp., net, $4.75. [1065]

This revision, carefully made by Dr. Grandin, necessarily pertains chiefly to obstetric surgery and the puerperal state, since it is in these departments that progress has occurred. Such new plates and illustrations have been added as has seemed wise in order to carry out the aim of the work, that of teaching graphically, thus enabling the practitioner at a distance from the medical centres to acquire his knowledge clinically.

Herbart, J: F: Letters and lectures on education; tr. from the German and ed., with an introd., by H: M. and Emmie Felkin; preface by Oscar Browning. Syracuse, N. Y., C: W. Bardeen, 1898. 16+285 p. D. cl., $1.75. [1073]

In the letters Herbart is seen in his workshop, engaged as tutor to three boys of different ages and capacity. It is interesting to see how the problems of education gradually force themselves upon him, and how the germs of his later theories were formed in this period. The lectures are on: The basis of education, Outlines of the general science of education, and On special branches of education. List of the German editions of Herbart's works (1 p.).

- A romance of the French and Indian war. The story opens in England after the battle of Culloden and the fall of the young Pretender. The hero is a soldier in the Scottish army, and is forced to flee to France, as the Pretender's cause is hopeless. He is offered a commission in the French army, and is transferred to Louisbourg, in Canada, on garrison duty. He is in love with his cousin, who comes to the new world to seek him at the outbreak of the French and Indian war. The story of her wanderings and the story of the dramatic capture of Quebec is told in a most picturesque way. Mr. McLennan is the author of "Spanish John."

- The author's special gift as a writer of reminiscences was shown in his "In Bohemia with Du Maurier." The godson of Felix Mendelssohn associated all his life with artists of all kinds—musicians, painters, authors, actors. The celebrated portrait painter tells of his student life in Paris, of his love affairs, of sketching tours with Claude Raoul Dupont, ocean travel with Henry Irving and Ellen Terry, life in New York and Chicago, and meetings with Mazzini, Rossini, and Robert Browning. The volume is illustrated with portraits of the author's mother, of Mazzini, and Browning, reproduced from the author's paintings.

- Two rivals for the hand of a fair German beauty, who looked with equal favor upon both, agree to decide which one of them shall quit the field by fighting a duel—not with swords or pistols, but with a game of chess. The story deals with the circumstances which lead up to this arrangement, the complications in which it becomes involved, and the startling dénouement with which the contest ends.
- Ray, Anna Chapin. Each life unfulfilled. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1899. c. 2+257 p. D. cl., $1.25. [1120]
- A novel of to-day dealing with American life. The principal characters are a young girl studying for a musical career and a young author. Having become acquainted at a western lake, the two meet again two years later in New York. In the course of the story a vivid picture is given of the début of the singer.

- A story for girls. It deals with the lives of three English girls after leaving a finishing school. The story is told by one of them, who naturally gives her own affairs the first place. She is a doctor's daughter who has lost her mother. She comes home full of confidence in her ability to manage her father's house and her younger brothers and sisters. Her experience is full of value to young people.
- Rod, E. Pastor Naudie's young wife; from the French by Bradley Gilman. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1899. c. 16+356 p. D. cl., $1.25. [1124]
- In this novel the author has made a study of French Protestantism; its scene is laid in La Rochelle and Montauban, the two Huguenot strongholds. It was first published in 1898 in the Revue des deux mondes and attracted immediate attention. Its French title was Le ménage du Pasteur Naudie. Bradley Gilman, in his introduction to the volume, writes of it as follows: "It is a study of life in the historic town of La Rochelle, and is wholesome in its moral atmosphere, even reminding some critics of Mrs. Humphry Ward's novels. The author throws a shaft of light down into that obscure old Protestant bourgeois community, as it is sometimes thrown down through the water upon a seabed; and every living creature within the circle of illumination stands as clearly defined as do the figures in one of Meissonier's pictures."

- The Russian authorities forbid any demonstration on the occasion of Count Tolstoy's seventieth anniversary last September. The only public notice of the event was the appearance of these desultory descriptions of Tolstoy's daily life. The writer first met the great Russian author in 1892, but during the last few years has come into very intimate relations with him. The translator has also visited the Tolstoys. Many items of interest are told about the vegetarian life led by Tolstoy and his eldest daughter, and the more conventional life of Countess Tolstoy and her other children.

- Whitelock, L. Clarkson. How Hindsight met Provincialitis. Bost., Copeland & Day, 1898. c. 5+294 p. S. cl., $1.25. [1160]
- Hindsight stands for a typical remote New England spot; Provincialitis for a southern country-side that the war devastated without changing the sunny, easy-going nature of its well-born inhabitants. In stories which may be read separately, but which in many instances introduce the same characters, the contrasts of northern and southern natures are shown. The burden of all seems to be that Hindsight could not, and Provincialitis would not, thirty years ago.

- The author, in his official duties as Special Commissioner of the United States for the Straits Settlement and Siam, and later as Consul-General of the United States at Hong Kong, has mingled with and studied the diverse people of the Malayan coast, from the Sultan of Johore and Aguinaldo the Filipino to the lowest Eurasian and "China boy" of that wonderful Oriental land. These stories are based on his experiences afloat and ashore.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 8, 1899.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE NET SYSTEM IN ENGLAND.

AT the third annual meeting of The Publishers' Association of Great Britain, held towards the close of last month, the president, John Murray, made some remarks based upon the annual report that would seem as practicable for the American as for the English book trade. In the first place, he brought out the excellent work the Association is doing in a manner to make all who have the interests of their trade at heart turn their thoughts earnestly once more to a practical plan for bringing together the publishers of the United States to consider trade reform, and to adjust prices and discounts that will neutralize unfair competition and stimulate the growth of the book trade; and that should stimulate the booksellers of this country to organize associations which may deal intelligently and authoritatively with individual members who break pledges, and to use their influence to educate members to understand that the best good of the whole trade is in the end the best good of each individual member of it. Mr. Murray specially dwells upon the importance of the fact that The Publishers' Association of Great Britain, in considering reform measures, is "dealing now not with individual booksellers, but with organized associations on both sides, which very much strengthens the position."

Three questions stood out during the year in the council meetings of the English association, from which there were rarely any members absent, and never more than one or two: the question of trade terms, the question of copyright, and the question of the draft agreement. The copyright and the draft agreement questions, naturally, are much influenced by conditions peculiar to England, her laws and her Colonial interests, and therefore may be considered in a measure rather of local than general interest; but the question of trade terms, as we have already pointed out, would seem as practical for the American as for the English trade, and we therefore print in full, elsewhere in this issue, the scheme which has been circulated among members of the Association, and that now promises to lead to a settlement which will temporarily give satisfaction, for finality in such matters is impossible.

The English booksellers gave a cordial and very remarkable reception to the proposals of the publishers. The scheme seems to have met with unanimous support. The publishers have made it clear to the booksellers that they did not enter on this step through any wish of their own. Publishers might be content to let things go on as they were. But the booksellers requested the action, and their interests were considered in all discussions. The scheme keeps in view the strict rule that, with a few exceptions scarcely worth mentioning, books shall be net books throughout the United Kingdom. The booksellers desire that the rule may be adopted before July 1, so that it may get in working order before the busy season. Some of the leading booksellers of London, and the libraries, which have great and growing power, are still opposed to the scheme. These say: "Net books or no net books, we must have our very large reduction or else we shall not take your books." It is human nature that when a number of people maintain rates there is a temptation to others to go below them. Whether this propensity can be successfully curbed in enough members of the trade to encourage the publishers to extend protective measures only time can teach.

KIPLING GETS AN INJUNCTION.

RUDYARD KIPLING and his publishers, S. S. McClure & Co., of New York, filed a bill in the United States Circuit Court at Chicago, on the 5th inst., for an injunction against the alleged infringement of his rights to "The White Man's Burden," by Frank B. Whipple & Co., publishers, at 48 Dearborn Street. A temporary injunction was granted on recommendation of Master in Chancery and the hearing was set for April 10. The defendant is known as the Progressive Publishing Company, and the infringement is said to have been committed in a volume entitled "Explanation, Parody, and Criticism of Rudyard Kipling's celebrated poem, 'The White Man's Burden.'" In this parodies and criticisms which have appeared at times in the newspapers are printed in the book. The restraining order issued will remain in effect until the hearing of the case, April 10.

THE ENGLISH PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE third annual meeting of the Publishers' Association of Great Britain was held at Stationers' Hall, London, March 23. There were present the principals or representatives of nearly forty of the leading firms, and President John Murray was in the chair. The president, in presenting the report of the Council for 1898-99, reviewed with satisfaction the work of the association since it was organized three years ago, and complimented its members upon their loyalty to it. Referring to the question of trade terms, which has been before the Association from the beginning—that led, in fact, to its organization—Mr. Murray said he thought “that very difficult and very important question is now happily reaching a stage, I won't say of finality, because there is no finality in such matters, but to the stage of a satisfactory settlement. The reception which was accorded to our proposals by the booksellers on two occasions when we met them here in conference was very cordial and very remarkable. Throughout the trade we may practically say that the scheme has met with unanimous support, and I have had some very gratifying letters from various parts of the country in regard to it. We have also the important fact that we are dealing now not with individual booksellers, but with organized associations on both sides, which very much strengthens the position. I wish to explain to you that we made it very clear to the booksellers that we did not enter on this step through any wish of our own. We should be content to let matters go on as they are. It is in their interest and at their request that we have entered on this discussion, and I hope they appreciate this, and I believe they do appreciate the fact. Now the scheme is, I think, as simple a one as could be arranged. The draft agreements which are alluded to in the report have been handed in since that report was presented, and they do not differ, in any notable respect, from the drafts which we printed in our scheme. They have been submitted to eminent counsel, and he passed them as sound in law and practice. Well, now we come to a very important point. If we launch on a scheme for the extension of net prices we know both among publishers and booksellers there will be opponents to this scheme, and the reason we come before you with a strong recommendation for this extension is that we are acting together, and the only possible power which can bring this scheme to success is loyalty to one another. Unless we can keep it a strict rule that books shall be net books throughout the kingdom without exception, or with such few exceptions as not to be worth mentioning, this scheme, and all schemes, must fail, and therefore I hope each one of us will enter into it with that idea. I am going to ask presently that this scheme may be adopted, and that it may be remitted to the Council to work out certain details before it is finally put into practice. The booksellers desire the scheme to come into practice on July 1, so that they can get it into working order before the busy season comes on. There are opponents to the scheme amongst some of the leading booksellers of London. We have asked them to come to the conference, and they have declined. Now, obviously that is a matter which calls for serious consideration, and I hope, in loyalty to one another, when we have thrashed the matter out as to what shall be allowed, that we shall see that the libraries do not get unreasonable terms, and that we shall stand up loyally and stick to the system.”

After referring to the work of the Association on behalf of the Copyright Bill, the Paris Exhibition, and the International Congress of Publishers, the report was offered for a vote.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL FOR 1898-9.

The work which has come before the Council during the past year has diminished neither in quantity nor importance as compared with previous years; twelve meetings of the Council have been held, in addition to many meetings of the Trade Terms Committee and the International Congress Committee, and two conferences have been held with representatives of the Booksellers' Associations.

Committee on Trade Terms.—We have much pleasure in announcing that at length a scheme has been formulated which has met with a most favorable reception from the representatives of the various Booksellers' Associations throughout the kingdom, and affords reasonable hope that a satisfactory solution of a long-standing difficulty may now be in sight. The scheme, which has been circulated among members of the Publishers' Association is as follows:—

Scheme.

It is recommended :

1. That a more general trial of the net system is advisable, especially in the case of books above 6s.; and that (a) New books should be issued as far as possible at net prices; (b) Existing books should, where it is practicable, be converted into net books, by taking off one-sixth of the present price.
(In the case of books thus converted to net prices royalties to authors would, of course, remain as now: e.g., if 2d. in the shilling is paid on a 12s. book, the royalty would remain at 2s., though the published price is reduced to 10s.)
2. That in the case of net books the same trade terms as are now offered should be given to those booksellers only who agree to sell them at full price, and to those wholesalers who agree to enforce similar conditions with their customers; and to others net books should only be supplied at the full published price.
3. That a form of agreement between publishers and booksellers who assent to these proposals be drawn up, along with a list of the publishers thus assenting, and that this form be circulated by the Publishers' Association among the booksellers for signature by them.
4. That booksellers refusing to accept this agreement shall be treated alike by all the assenting firms of publishers.
5. That the foregoing recommendations shall not apply to bona fide remainders or to dead stock.
6. It is understood that the Publishers' Association cannot undertake the responsibility of detecting instances of underselling. This scheme is drawn up in the interest of the booksellers, as urged by the majority of them and their representatives, and it is clearly understood that the onus probandi in case of default rests with the various Booksellers' Associations.

A draft of the form of agreement referred to in Clause 3 has been submitted to counsel. The opponents of this proposal are exclusively, or almost exclusively, confined to a few prominent members of the trade in London.

This scheme will be communicated to the Authors' Society, but inasmuch as it is presumed that no book will be made net without the express permission of the owner of the copyright, no formal approval by that Society is requisite.

Publication Agreements.—At the general meeting last year it was reported that draft forms of agreement between publishers and authors had been drawn up after long and careful consideration, and had been submitted to counsel, whose opinion was duly laid before our members.

These drafts were completed and circulated among our members last April. A copy was also officially sent as a matter of courtesy to the Authors' Society, in accordance with the intention expressed by Mr. Longman in his presidential address in 1896. Our members are all aware that the drafts were never intended for use in the exact form in which they stand, but were regarded as a collection of clauses adaptable to different cases, drawn up in an approved legal form. It had always been the hope of your Council that, if the authorities of the Authors' Society found anything objectionable in these drafts, they would ask for an explanation, and would probably propose a conference between representatives of the two societies to discuss, and if necessary to modify, the forms of agreement. The Society, however, took another view of the case, and have, we believe, issued a very severe criticism of the drafts. No copy of this criticism has been communicated to your Council.

Copyright Bill.—The Amending and Consolidated Bill drafted by a Joint Committee under the auspices of the Copyright Association was presented in the House of Lords, in February, 1898. Having been read a first time, it was referred, along with the Amending Bill promoted by the Authors' Society, to a Select Committee, which held eleven meetings during last session, and took a large amount of evidence. It is believed that the Select Committee are engaged on preparing an amended draft embodying the results of this evidence, and that in due course this Bill will be reintroduced with reasonable prospects of becoming law.

The following officers were elected: President, John Murray; Vice-President, C. J. Longman; Honorary Treasurer, Frederick Macmillan; Council (from the following firms), George Bell & Sons, A. & C. Black, William Blackwood & Sons, Cassell & Co., Ltd., William Heinemann, A. D. Innes & Co., Ltd., Sampson Low, Marston & Co., Ltd., Simpkin, Marshall, Hamilton, Kent & Co., Ltd., Smith, Elder & Co., T. Fisher Unwin; Two Auditors, M. H. Hodder and Harold E. Warne.

FOR EQUAL COPYRIGHT.

THE London morning papers on the 6th inst. commented with sympathy and approval upon a long letter which Alfred Austin, the poet laureate, addressed to Col. John Hay, Secretary of State, from Florence, Italy, on March 25, appealing, on the ground of the unity of the English-speaking peoples, for equal copyright in all English-speaking countries for all books written in English.

The Standard, in an editorial note, urges that copyright between Great Britain and the United States should be absolutely reciprocal, and suggests that the moment is propitious for an international convention with the United States.

The Times, commenting upon the "ingenious and genial manner in which Mr. Austin introduces the question by pointing to the demonstration occasioned by Mr. Kipling's illness as a proof of the literary sympathy between the two countries," says: "It will be interesting to hear Mr. Hay's reply, for he is a man of letters with an audience on both sides of the Atlantic. We rather suspect that an attempt to disturb the existing arrangement might only disturb a hornet's nest. Perhaps Mr. Hay's reply will throw light on this important point."

Mr. Austin advocates the repeal of the copyright law, the recent modifications of which, he says, are wholly inadequate if they are judged by the canons of literary equity. He urges that every vestige of discrimination between American and English writers ought to be abolished on each side of the Atlantic. This should not be effected by negotiation or bargaining, but should be the free gift of a great and magnanimous people. He adds: "Let vested interests be by all means considered, but the prosperous, open-handed people who have just voted $20,000,000 for the liberation of an enslaved race would surely have no difficulty in finding as many thousands for the purpose of performing an act of justice to the friendliest and worst remunerated of all their working kindred."

THE INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF PUBLISHERS.

SUPPLEMENTING our semi-official report of the rules and regulations drawn up for the organizing committee of the International Congress of Publishers we give below the official document as published by the Publishers' Association of Great Britain and Ireland, through its secretary:

(1) The Third Meeting of the International Congress of Publishers will take place on the 7th, 8th, and 9th June, 1899.

(2) The arrangements for the Congress are in the hands of the Publishers' Association of Great Britain and Ireland.

(3) Delegates from all the National Publishers' Associations, representing publishers of books and periodicals (reviews, magazines, and illustrated papers), are eligible as members of the Congress.

(4) This Third International Congress will last three or four days, with two meetings on each day, and shall be held at the Stationers' Hall, London.

(5) The programme of the meetings will be published in due course by the Committee of Organization.

(6) At this Third Congress all subjects which bear directly or indirectly on the profession of publishing, together with certain questions concerning the value of artistic and literary property shall be open to discussion.

(7) A list of such subjects as shall be selected for discussion will in due course be sent to all delegates and other members of this Third Congress.

(8) Any members of this Congress who desire to read papers or to submit subjects for discussion shall give notice of such intention to the Committee of Organization. The Committee will then decide which of these questions shall appear on the programme of discussions, and will communicate with those delegates who desire to present written reports thereon.

(9) Such reports, written in English, shall be sent to the President of the Organizing Committee not later than the 1st day of May, 1899.

(10) Papers may be submitted in any language to the President of the Committee of Organization, but any such papers which are not in English must be accompanied by an English translation. They will be printed in English, but the Committee reserve to themselves the right of also printing them in any other language if requested by the author to do so.

(11) The expenses of this Congress shall be borne by the Publishers' Association of Great Britain and Ireland.

(12) The Officers of the Congress shall consist of:—

An English President (Mr. John Murray);
Vice-Presidents chosen from the national delegates, among whom shall be the President of the preceding Congress, ex-officio.

An English General Secretary (Mr. E. G. Fairholme).

Secretaries of the various national departments.

(13) The President and Secretary of the Congress shall be elected before the meeting takes place, in order that they may make all the necessary arrangements beforehand.

(14) The subscription of £1 (25 francs or 20 marks) should be forwarded to the Secretary, together with the acceptance form.

(15) The Congress shall, before the close of their Session, decide the date and place of Meeting of the Fourth Congress.

All communications should be addressed to E. G. Fairholme, Secretary of the International Congress of Publishers, Stationers' Hall, London, E.C., England.

KIPLING'S LETTER OF THANKS.

RUDYARD KIPPLING on the 2d inst. wrote the following note of thanks to the press:

HOTEL GRENOBLE, Easter Day, 1899.

DEAR SIR: Will you allow me through your columns to attempt some acknowledgment of the wonderful sympathy, affection, and kindness shown toward me during my recent illness, as well as the unfailing courtesy that controlled its expression? I am not strong enough to answer letters in detail, so I must take this means of thanking as humbly as sincerely the countless people of good-will throughout the world who have put me under a debt I can never hope to repay. Faithfully yours,
RUDYARD KIPPLING.

Mr. Kipling on Sunday for the first time since his illness began to get out of bed and to sit up for a few hours.

THE SIX BEST-SELLING BOOKS DURING MARCH.

ACCORDING to the Bookman the six books which have sold best in the order of demand during the month of March were:

2. "The Day's Work." Kipling. Doubleday & McClure Co. $1.50.
3. "The Battle of the Strong." Parker. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. $1.50.
4. "Aylwin." Watts-Dunton. Dodd, Mead & Co. $1.50.
5. { "When Knighthood was in Flower." Caskoden (Charles Major.) Bowen-Merrill Co. $1.50.
- { "Red Rock." Page. Charles Scribner's Sons. $1.50.
6. "Mr. Dooley." Dunne. Small, Maynard & Co. $1.25.

PAD AND PAPETERIE TRUST FORMING.

A MOVEMENT is on foot for organizing the pad and papeterie manufacturing interests into a big combination that will foot up into the millions. Although the capitalization has not yet been decided upon and no formal options have been made, all of the large firms in the vicinity of Holyoke, Mass., are said to have given the matter favorable consideration and will very likely agree to enter the combine.

THE WORD "BATH" ON NOTE PAPER.

It is likely that many of the older generation of our readers will remember having wondered at the meaning of the word "Bath" stamped on the top left-hand corner of the fine note and letter paper sold fifty years ago and earlier. Singularly, this stamp occurred on French and English papers only, and was never found on paper of English make, though it was commonly supposed to have taken its name from the famous English city of Bath. Recent inquiries have led to the discovery that the word "Bath" had no connection whatever with the chief town of Somersetshire, in England; that, in fact, the word so used is not even English, but Parisian argot. C'est bath means "that suits me," or "that is fine" or "good," and its application to fine note paper is therefore easily accounted for. A similar expression is used in Africa, and it is supposed that the word was carried into France by the Zouaves in the Foreign Legion.

OBITUARY NOTES.

HENRY J. WEHMAN, a music publisher at 108 Park Row, New York, died March 20. He was born in New York forty-three years ago. He was the originator of the one-cent (or so-called penny) ballad, which was first sold in New York streets in 1878.

ANDREW J. RICKOFF, a well-known educator, and author of Appleton's "Reader," died at the home of his daughter in Berkeley, Cal., on March 30. Professor Rickoff was for many years Superintendent of Schools in Cleveland. He had a national reputation as an educator.

EUGENE C. LEWIS, a well-known New York

bookbinder, died at his home in Brooklyn March 26. He was a member of one of the oldest families on Long Island, his ancestors having lived in Northport for several generations. He started in business in the employ of the J. Ottman Lithograph Company, in which he later became one of the largest stockholders. In 1892 Mr. Lewis purchased an interest in a large bookbinding establishment, of which he later became sole owner. His business will be continued by his estate.

ADALBERT PEPPMÜLLER, who for twenty-five years was the superintendent of the German and French department of the International News Company, died at his residence, 392 Fourth Street, South Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 3d inst. Mr. Peppmüller was born in Minden, Westphalia, in 1836, and after a thorough education became a merchant, in which capacity he gained intimate experience of foreign methods in Vienna, Paris, and London. In 1866 he came to this country and obtained employment at E. Steiger's store. In 1871 he took a position in the American News Company's foreign department. A year later, when the Willmer & Rodgers News Company was absorbed by the American News Company, and the International News Company was formed, Mr. Peppmüller was placed at the head of the German and French department. In a short time he developed this branch to almost gigantic proportions, procuring for it the exclusive agency for such firms as Hallberger, Bibliographisches Institut, Braun & Schneider, and others of equal importance. Mr. Peppmüller was a man of charming personality. He was an honored and welcome guest at the public entertainments given by fellow German-Americans, and was himself a member of many organizations. He was especially active in furthering educational interests, and was one of the founders of the Staten Island Academy. Mr. Peppmüller leaves a widow and two sons, the younger of whom—Ernest—has been associated with him since 1894 in the International News Company.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

THE author of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden," who is writing a new work of the same character, is said to be the Countess von Arnim, formerly Miss May Beauchamp.

SOME interesting notes left by Alfred Lord Tennyson, in elucidation of his "In Memoriam," have been placed in the hands of a well-known scholar to prepare for early publication.

* It is stated that the French Government has issued a decree of exile against Mr. Le Queux, the well-known novelist, on account of his letters to the London Daily Mail exposing the bad drainage, exorbitant charges, and other drawbacks of life on the Riviera.

It is rumored that William George Jordan is about to retire from the editorship of the Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post, which he started so auspiciously on its new career. Mr. Jordan, it will be remembered, built up Current Literature, which he left a few years ago to become managing editor of the Ladies' Home Journal. When the Curtis Publishing Co. purchased the moribund Saturday Evening Post Mr. Jordan was induced to become its editor. In a short time his enthusiasm and genius quickened the Post into new life, until it bristled with new ideas that rapidly made for it hosts of new friends and subscribers. Among the innovations introduced by Mr. Jordan was an editorial page in which leading writers and authorities discussed, over their names, timely questions and topics of general interest. Among these contributions those by the editor were by no means the least interesting and instructive—indeed, his personality was apparent in the whole editorial conduct of the Post, which at the present is a unique weekly paper.

THE Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, who succeeded Dr. Lyman Abbot to the pastorate of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., began, on the evening of the 1st inst., a series of sermons on the general theme "Great Books as Interpreters of the Christian Life, and Great Authors as Prophets of the New Era." The first sermon was on George Eliot's Tito in "Romola," and was treated as a study of the peril of tampering with conscience and the gradual deterioration of character. The second will be Victor Hugo's battles of the angels and demons for man's soul in "Les Misérables." How Jean Valjean passed from passion and sin into Christian service and self-sacrifice. The third, Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter." A study of the retributive workings of conscience. An outlook upon the nature, necessity, and nobility of repentance. The fourth, Browning's "Saul," and the wrecking of great souls. A study of the tragedy of ten-talent men. The fifth, the "Seven Scars" on Dante's forehead. A study of the poet's "Seven Deadly Sins." The sixth, John Ruskin's "Seven Lamps of Architecture," as interpreting the seven laws of life and happiness. A study of the principles of character building. The seventh, the poet as a prophet of Christianity. How Tennyson passed from doubt to faith in Jesus Christ. An outlook upon the memoirs of Lord Tennyson. The eighth, the biographies of Drummond and Romanes. An outlook upon the new friendship between science and religion. The ninth, Henry Thoreau's "Walden" and the ministry of the external world. The tenth, the new times and the poets and essayists as prophets of a new era. The series will be followed by a similar one in the fall.

BUSINESS NOTES.

AUGUSTA, GA.—Allen & Constantine have opened a branch bookstore here.

BISMARCK, N. DAK.—R. D. Hoskins has opened a book and stationery store here, which he calls the "Capital" Bookstore.

BOSTON, MASS.—Silver, Burdett & Co. have moved their offices to 219-223 Columbus Avenue, next door to the Youth's Companion building.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—A. F. Farnell & Son, after occupying the store 40 and 42 Court Street for the past twenty years, have removed to a larger store on the corner of Court and Joralemon Streets.

BUCKHANNON, W. VA.—W. S. Foster has opened a book and stationery store on Depot Street.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—The Peter Paul Book Company have removed into a much larger store half a block further up Main Street than their old quarters.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Charles MacDonald & Co. will remove on May 1 from his old stand at 69 Washington Street to larger and more convenient quarters at 53 Washington Street.

CITY OF MEXICO, MEX.—W. W. Blake has opened a bookstore on Gante Street.

DOVER, N. H.—E. B. Lane has closed out his book and stationery business. Lane's bookstore has been well known for 67 years in Dover and vicinity. The late E. J. Lane was in trade from 1832 to 1884, having been 26 years in a store on Washington Street, and 26 years on Central Avenue. His son, E. B. Lane, has continued the business to the present time, and has been identified with its interests for nearly forty years.

ELLSWORTH, MO.—Miss A. J. Thompson has bought F. A. Coomb's book and stationery store.

EL RENO, KAN.—T. J. Murphy has sold his bookstore.

HACKENSACK, N. J.—M. Fast, bookseller and newsdealer, has moved into the store in his new building.

JOPLIN, MO.—E. Felix, bookseller, has been succeeded by Felix & Duckett.

LEXINGTON, KY.—The well-known book and stationery firm of King & Worthington has been dissolved by mutual consent, but will be continued on under the name of Bruce E. King & Co., the second member of the firm being R. D. Norwood. The old firm has made a splendid reputation for itself, and the withdrawal of Mr. Worthington is due only to the increasing demand on his time by his law practice.

MURPHYSBORO, ILL.—Howell Brothers have sold their stock of school-books and stationery to W. A. McKee.

NATCHEZ, MISS.—Dunbar & French have opened a fine book and stationery store at the corner of Main and North Commerce Streets.

NEW YORK CITY.—William B. Harison was discharged from bankruptcy proceedings March 29. The liabilities were $29,382.

NEW YORK CITY.—Hinds & Noble will extend their quarters on May 1 by adding two more stores in Cooper Institute, which will give them three full fronts on Third Avenue and the same space on Fourth Avenue, making six stores in all.

NEW YORK CITY.—Hannibal I. Kimball, of 25 West Eleventh Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $22,412, and assets of $225 debts due him. There is also a possible legacy from James Kimball, of Portland, Me., the amount of which is unknown, and is subject to a life interest. Of late Mr. Kimball has been in the printing line. He was recently a publisher, and was formerly president, treasurer, and general manager of Stone & Kimball, a corporation which went into the hands of a receiver in November, 1897. Of the liabilities $11,084 are secured by $15,000 stock of that corporation, which is put down at no value. The largest creditors are Charles

B. Farwell, Chicago, $5900; S. D. Warren & Co., Boston, $5184; and Nancy A. Kimball, $4568.

NEW YORK CITY.—F. M. Lupton Pub. Co. will remove May 1 to the new building at the southeast corner of Duane and Elm Streets.

NEW YORK CITY.—M. F. Mansfield & A. Wessels have removed to more modern quarters in the St. James building, at Broadway and Twenty-sixth Street. The change has been necessitated by their steadily growing business which made demands for increased space in a more convenient neighborhood.

NEW YORK CITY.—E. & J. B. Young & Co. will remove about May 1 to 7 and 9 West Eighteenth Street, near Fifth Ave.

NEWPORT, R. I.—Richard de Logerot, the Marquis de Croisic, proprietor of the Cosmopolitan Library and book and stationery store, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy.

PEKIN, ILL.—W. H. Ward has opened a bookstore on Fourth Street, near Elizabeth.

STAMFORD, CONN.—Sylvester B. Wilson, who recently bought R. E. Lee & Co.'s book and stationery business, is selling out.

TROY, N. Y.—Arthur M. Allen, who has been for the past five years with the D. Van Nostrand Co., of New York, has taken personal charge of the business, which has been conducted for the past year under the name of Arthur M. and Chas. C. Allen, 412 River Street.

UTICA, N. Y.—A. S. & T. Hunter have succeeded to Hugh Glenn & Co.

WICHITA, KAN.—Ora McKinney, proprietor of the Rock Island Bookstore, has purchased the Bayless three-story brick block in this city.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

ELLIOT STOCK, London, will publish at once "In Modern Spain," by Reginald St. Barbe.

CHAPMAN & HALL, London, will publish shortly W. H. Mallock's new novel, "The Individualist."

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have just published a story entitled "That Duel at the Chateau Marsanac," by Walter Pulitzer.

BENJ. R. TUCKER, New York, has in preparation "Anarchy is Order," by A. Bellegarigue; also, "Are Anarchists Thugs?" by Benj. R. Tucker.

A NUMBER of Chicago newsdealers have issued a call to the trade to meet and organize. Charles McDonald, the well-known newsdealer, is chairman of the committee issuing the call.

THE MONITOR COMPANY, Cincinnati, have in press "On a Higher Plane" and "Pearls from the Bible," both by Moritz Loth; "On Trusts" and "Tales Tersely Told," both by Paul Victor Loth; also, "The Mysterious Marie," by Louis Clermonte.

THE NEW ENGLAND SOCIETY, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, are making preparations to publish a uniform edition of all of Mark Twain's writings. The issue will be in strictly limited form. Brander Matthews will supply an introduction to the works.

IN OUR notice last week of the forthcoming publications of Alex. Grosset & Co., the nonsensical statement was interpolated by the "office cat" that "The City of Dreadful Night" was by "the celebrated translator of the Rubáiyát." No doubt our readers will all have suspected that we intended to write it was by Rudyard Kipling.

THE OPEN COURT PUBLISHING COMPANY, Chicago, will publish at once Alfred Binet's "Psychology of Reasoning," which has just been translated from the second French edition by Adam Gowans Whyte. The book is probably one of the best of the popular résumés of this branch of modern scientific psychology, and has been widely noted in England and America.

BRENTANO's have just ready neat editions of "The Ballad of Reading Gaol," by C. 3. 3. (Oscar Wilde); and "The Rubáiyát of Omar Khayyám," as translated by Fitzgerald, with the address of John Hay. They will publish on the 10th inst. "Trans-Atlantics," by Frederick W. Wendt, author of "Ocean Sketches;" "The Afghan Knife," by R. A. Sterndale; and "Pierre and Jean," by Guy de Maupassant, translated by Hugh Craig, with 36 illustrations by Ernst Duez and Albert Lynch.

THE bibliographers of George Meredith will be interested to hear of a little discovery, or at least a partial discovery, which it is for them to complete. It has been thought that Meredith's first published production was a copy of verses entitled "Chilian Wallah," published originally in Chambers' Journal. A letter, however, has turned up in which Meredith mentions that previously to this he had published an article on Kossuth. It would be interesting to know where that appeared.

R. H. RUSSELL, New York, announces "English Portraits," a series of drawings on stone, by Will Rothenstein. The portraits are of men and women of to-day, including Thomas Hardy, Sir F. Seymour Hayden, Sir Frederick Pollock, W. E. H. Lecky, W. E. Henley, Miss Ellen Terry, Sidney Colvin, Mrs. Alice Meynell, Walter Crane, George Gissing, Henry James, and others. Mr. Russell also announces four unique designs, by Pamela Colman Smith, illustrating the most picturesque characters in the play of "Trelawny of the Wells."

THE BURTON SOCIETY, which was formed in Denver, Colo., to reprint a limited edition of Burton's translation of "The Arabian Nights," will shortly begin publishing, having secured the number of subscribers desired. The cost of membership, including a set of "The Arabian Nights," is $100, commencing with member number 201. The directors have, however, decided to fill all vacancies at the $90 rate. This fee is payable in instalments of $10 each, as the work progresses. Applications may be addressed to the treasurer, George E. Ross-Lewin, cashier of the First National Bank, Denver.

T. FISHER UNWIN, London, will publish in time for the Protector's centenary celebration on April 25, an illustrated volume entitled "Oliver Cromwell and His Times," by G. Holden Pike. The book will not be an addition to the numerous biographies already in existence, but among other things an attempt will be made to depict the social, political, industrial, and religious characteristics of the times. The illustrations will relate to what is called the Cromwell country, around Huntingdon and St. Ives. Mr. Unwin will shortly publish in his Overseas Series a new novel by Cunningham Graham, entitled "The Ipane," the scene of which is laid in Paraguay.

JOHN LANE has just ready a posthumous volume of essays by Francis Adams, the Australian poet and essayist, entitled "In Modernity." It deals with Shelley, Tennyson, Swinburne, and Kipling. Mr. Lane will publish shortly "Defender of the Faith," a historical romance by Frank Mathew; "A Daughter of the Vine," by Gertrude Atherton; "Idols," by W. J. Locke; and "Both Great and Small," by A. E. J. Legge, author of "The Mutineers," which should not be confused with Mr. Becque's "The Mutineer," which is the story of the mutiny of the Bounty. He announces that the first number of Lady Randolph Churchill's guinea magazine, The Anglo-Saxon, will be published in June.

THE MACMILLAN CO. will publish in a few weeks Prof. George E. Woodberry's new book, "The Heart of Man," a collection of papers dealing with idealism and its application in poetry and art, in politics and religion; "The Quest of Faith," eight chapters upon the current philosophy of religion, by Thomas Bailey Saunders, author of "The Life and Letters of James Macpherson;" also, "The Development of the English Novel," by Prof. W. L. Cross, of Yale, whose aim it is to point out the first appearance of new elements in the progress of fiction, such as the introduction of letters, history, humanitarianism, and psychology, and to trace in outline the development of those new departures.

THE F. M. LUPTON PUBLISHING COMPANY have just ready a new catalogue of their extensive lines of paper-covered books. They have added over one hundred new titles, which swells the total to 850. All their new plates are set in long primer type or larger, making a readable page. New cover designs have been prepared for their Bijou, Golden Rod, Elite, Aldis, and Southworth series, making the books also outwardly more attractive. The firm announces that it protects the retailer by declining to sell to houses that cut the prices on their books. On May 1 they will remove from 72-76 Walker Street to the new building at the southeast corner of Elm and Duane Streets, where they will occupy two entire lofts.

THOMAS WHITTAKER will publish next week a collection of anecdotes illustrative of "Irish Life and Character," by Michael MacDonagh. He will publish on the 20th inst. "An Epic of the Soul," a cycle of eighty short poems, of a new form, "which records the experience of one who has sounded the depths of doubt and despair, and emerged into light on the further side." The author, whose name is at present withheld, is already known in more than one department of literature. Under the title of "The Warden," Henry A. Fairbairn, M.D., will publish through Mr. Whittaker a biographical sketch of his father, who for many years was head of St. Stephen's College, Annandale, N. Y., and was widely known in the Episcopal Church as an author and educator.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY, Boston, have just published "Germany, her people and their story," a popular history of Germany, from its discovery by the Romans to the present day, by Augusta Hale Gifford, wife of Hon. George Gifford, U. S. Consul at Basle, and sister to Senator Eugene Hale, of Maine; "Tales of the Malayan Coast," by Rounseville Wildman, U. S. Consul at Hong Kong, whose connection with the stirring affairs in the Far East, his association with Aguinaldo, the Filipino chief, and his intimate connection with Dewey's victories and the progress of the war in the Philippines, gives especial interest to his stories; "A Modern Sacrifice," a new story by Pansy; and "The Despatch Boat of the Whistle," a sea and land story of Santiago, which is also, incidentally, a story of the Spanish-American war from the news of the destruction of the Maine to the fall of Santiago, by that veteran story-teller, William O. Stoddard.

THE Annual Report of the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution, showing the operations, expenditures, and condition of the Institution to July, 1897, has just made its appearance. Besides the official matter, its appendix contains the following interesting contributions: "Aspects of American Astronomy," by Simon Newcomb; "The Beginnings of American Astronomy," by Edward S. Holden; "The Evolution of Satellites," with diagrams, by G. H. Darwin; "Electrical Advance in the Past Ten Years," by Elihu Thomson; "The X-Rays," with a number of illustrations and diagrams, by W. C. Röntgen; "Cathode Rays," by J. J. Thomson; "Story of Experiments in Mechanical Flight," with illustrations, by S. P. Langley; "On Soaring Flight," by E. C. Huffaker; "The Revival of Alchemy," by H. C. Bolton; "Diamonds," by William Crookes; "The Discovery of New Elements within the Last Twenty-Five Years," by Clemens Winkler; "An Undiscovered Gas," by William Ramsay; "Fluorine," by Henri Moissan; "Light and its Artificial Production," by O. Lummer; "Exploration of the Upper Atmosphere," with diagrams, by Henri de Graffigny; "The Exploration of the Free Air by Means of Kites at Blue Hill Observatory," with illustrations from photographs, by A. Lawrence Rotch; "The Debt of the World to Pure Science," by John J. Stevenson; "The Age of the Earth as an Abode Fitted for Life," by Lord Kelvin; "Rising of the Land Around Hudson Bay," by Robert Bell; "Crater Lake, Oregon," with maps and a number of full-page illustrations from photographs, by J. S. Diller; "The Function and Field of Geography," by J. Scott Keltie; "Letters from the Andrée Party," with portraits and illustrations from photographs; "Scientific Advantages of an Antarctic Expedition," by John Murray and others; "Recent Progress in Physiology," by Michael Foster; "The Factors of Organic Evolution from a Botanical Standpoint," by L. H. Bailey; "The Law which Underlies Protective Coloration," with a number of illustrations from photographs, by Abbott H. Thayer; "Life History Studies of Animals," by L. C. Miall; "The Royal Menagerie of France, and the National Menagerie, Established on the 14th of Brumaire, of the Year II (November 4, 1793)," by E. T. Hamy; "Botanical Opportunity," by William Trelease; "Mescal: A New Artificial Paradise," by Havelock Ellis; "The Unity of the Human Species," by Marquis de Nadaillac; "Recent Research in Egypt," by W. M. Flinders-Petrie; "A Study of the Omaha Tribe: The Import of the Totem," with illustrations from photographs, by Alice C. Fletcher; "A New Group of Stone Implements from the Southern Shores of Lake Michigan," with a number of plates, by W. A. Phillips; "A Preliminary Account of Archaeological Field Work in Arizona in 1897," very fully illustrated, a number of plates being colored, by J. Walter Fewkes; "The Building of the Library of Congress," by Bernard R. Green, illustrated; "George Brown Goode," a short notice, in memoriam, by S. P. Langley; "Francis Amasa Walker," a biographical sketch, by George F. Hoar and Carroll D. Wright.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE will give its next monthly dinner on the evening of April 12, at the New Amsterdam Hotel, 265 Fourth Avenue, corner of Twenty-first Street, New York. The post-prandial programme will consist of "An Evening with Salesmen and their 'Big Sales.'" H. S. Hutchinson, of New Bedford, Mass., will lead off by an informal talk on the country bookseller in the past and present. Having just returned from Cuba, Mr. Hutchinson will very likely also have something to say of what he saw of the book trade in Havana and thereabouts. A number of salesmen are expected to speak of their "big" or prize sales. The new quarters are decidedly more cheerful and homelike than those at the French Restaurant, and will hold in one room the largest assembly the League expects to entertain.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

A Series of Brief Memoirs of Eminent Americans
The Beacon Biographies

M. A. DEWOLFE HOWE, EDITOR

MESSRS. SMALL, MAYNARD AND COMPANY beg to announce that they will publish on April 15 the first five volumes of THE BEACON BIOGRAPHIES, as follows:—

PHILLIPS BROOKS, by the Editor

DAVID G. FARRAGUT, by JAMES BARNES

ROBERT E. LEE, by W. P. TRENT

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL, by EDWARD EVERETT HALE, Jr.

DANIEL WEBSTER, by NORMAN HAPGOOD

They are also able to announce the following volumes as in preparation:—

JOHN JAMES AUDUBON, by JOHN BURROUGHS

EDWIN BOOTH, by CHARLES TOWNSEND COPELAND

AARON BURR, by HENRY CHILDS MERWIN

JAMES FENIMORE COOPER, by W. B. SHUBRICK CLYMER

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, by LINDSAY SWIFT

The reasons which have persuaded the Editor and the Publishers to believe that The Beacon Biographies make their appeal to a fairly general public are these:—

The Beacon Biographies, it is thought, are the most beautiful small books ever issued in this country. The cover (in blind and gold on blue cloth) is by MR. BERTRAM GROSVENOR GOODHUE, who has done also the standing title-page for the series, which has been engraved on copper. The size is 24mo ($3\frac{3}{4}$ by $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches), with an average of 140 pages to the volume. The frontispiece portrait which accompanies each is in photogravure. The paper has been selected with great care, and the type used is a new face specially cut.

The subjects of the various Biographies as they appear are to be men of the most various significance in American life, so that the series as completed will give biographically the history of American life and character in all its important phases.

The normal extent of a Beacon Biography is around 20,000 words. Sixty or seventy years ago books of American biography thus briefly expressed could be obtained generally throughout the country, but they have since been crowded out by the longer Memoirs and formal lives. From these, now, and from the wealth of related material which has been accumulated in the research of a generation, it is proposed to condense once more the brief statement of essential facts which alone can appeal to the busy American interested in his country's history.

The writers who have consented to contribute to the Series are uniformly men who have the point of view of the present generation. With full critical and historical knowledge of the subjects of which they treat, they have not thought it necessary to produce dull books, or books without the proper popular appeal. Those who care for biography will find in The Beacon Biographies, it is hoped, the solution of a real want—books at once entertaining, brief, and authentic. Each volume, moreover, is to include a bibliography for further reading, and a strict and full list of important dates in chronological order.

Price, 75 cents each

Circulars of information are now ready, and will be sent on application to the Publishers.

NO. 5

JOHN STREET

By RICHARD WHITEING,

Author of "The Island."

A Romance of the "Other Half" in London, with Side-lights on the Life of the "Upper Ten."

"From pure literary charm this piece of artistic workmanship is far and away superior to anything we have read this year."—London Daily Mail.

"It stands amongst the average output of fiction like an oak in a hedgerow."—David Christie Murray.

THE author of this striking story is a journalist, who has devoted many years to the sympathetic study of social conditions in the modern Babylon. The heroine is a flower-girl, and the hero, who tells the story, a wealthy young baronet who lives for a time in the slums, and earns his bread by the sweat of his brow. The satire upon "the selfishness of high civilizations" is made all the more effective by its subtle humor and the literary delicacy of the author's style.

Have Ready To-Day:

The Stolen Story

And Other Newspaper Stories. By JESSE LYNCH WILLIAMS, author of "Princeton Stories." Frontispiece. 12mo, $1.25.

Stories that portray human nature in unusual aspects with a breadth and depth that lift them far above ordinary newspaper stories, the author's knowledge of the men and the ways of journalism serving as the vehicle for the expression of his philosophy of life and knowledge of character. The stories at the same time have a raciness and humor that give them striking individuality.

In the Klondyke.

By FREDERICK PALMER. With illustrations from photographs. 12mo, $1.50.

A most satisfactory account of a winter journey, as well as of a winter residence, in the Klondyke. The author has put into his book more facts of real significance, and has succeeded in conveying a better idea of a Klondyke mining town, than has thus far been accessible elsewhere.

By Rev. Dr. William Reed Huntington.

New and cheaper editions, with important revisions and additional matter.

The Church-Idea.

Fourth edition, with a new preface. Cloth, 50 cents net; paper, 25 cents net.

The National Church.

Cloth, 50 cents net; paper, 25 cents net.

The Peace of the Church.

Cloth, $1.00 net; paper, 50 cents net.

A Literary History of Ireland.

By Dr. DOUGLAS HYDE (Library of Literary History, Vol. II.) Frontispiece. 8vo, $4.00.

In this second volume in a noteworthy series on the world's literature, Dr. Hyde traces the history of letters in Ireland from the earliest period through the eighteenth century. Besides including many examples of a beautiful and original literature, this volume is of especial interest in view of the present Celtic revival in England.

Already Published. A LITERARY HISTORY OF INDIA. By R. W. FRAZER. Being Volume I. in the Library of Literary History. 8vo, $4.00.
